

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0033] An ice cube maker having an evaporator in fluid communication with a flow control device to supply water for making ice cubes is provided. The water is supplied by a pump from a storage tank supported by a support element underneath the evaporator. The storage tank is removably connected to the support element and/or a casing of the ice cube maker.